

RUSU to enable Union Ticket re-sale for sold out events

Every Wednesday and Saturday there are a number of students who are unable to buy union tickets as they are sold out. Likewise, many people who have bought them decide to stay in and so their tickets go to waste. To solve this problem, there should be a system which allows for the official resale of tickets.

This idea should be implemented because it makes sense for those who no longer require their tickets to have a platform through which they can sell them to those who missed out. It means those people who choose not to go out are not wasting money, and those who purchase the tickets from them are able to enjoy their night.

Limit resale to one ticket per student. Some students buy multiple tickets when they know tickets will sell out and be in high demand, i.e. around Halloween or Fresher's. These students then sell on tickets at higher prices to those unprepared to buy them beforehand to make a profit. To stop these people taking advantage of students that may not know if they are going out in advance, there should be a limit on reselling to eliminate the "safety net" of being able to resell them through the system in case they cannot find a buyer/the event does not sell out as expected.
